

Pet Policy

Pets are not allowed in the library.

- While the library occasionally presents educational programs that feature animals, members of the public may only enter the library with an animal if it is a service animal that requires accommodation under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).
- Under the ADA, a service animal is a dog that has been individually trained to do work or perform tasks for an individual with a disability. The dog must be trained to take a specific action to assist the person with a disability, and the task(s) performed must be directly related to the disability.
- Emotional support, therapy, comfort, or companion animals, which have not been trained to perform a specific job or task, do not qualify as service animals under the ADA.
- If it is not obvious that a dog brought into the library is a service animal, a staff member may ask the following questions:
 - Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability?
 - What specific work or task has the dog been trained to perform?
- A staff member attempting to ascertain whether a dog is a service animal will never ask about the nature of a person's disability.
- Service animals must be under the immediate control of their handlers at all times.
- Service animals which are not housebroken, bark excessively, are uncontrolled, or are otherwise disruptive, will be required to leave the premises.
- Animals may never be left unattended on library grounds.
- Service animals are not allowed on library furniture or fixtures, and must remain on the floor or be carried (as appropriate) by their handlers at all times.

Observing the above helps make the library a safe, clean and friendly place for the entire community. Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.
